GREENWAY GALA

Last week's 10th annual Greenway Gala was attended and supported by over 400 guests. Co-chaired by Mike Carragher of VHB and Jay Hooley of State Street, the event raised over $500,000 in support of the Greenway Conservancy. Mayor Martin J. Walsh joined to make the award presentation to Gala honoree Peter Lynch and his daughters, Elizabeth, Annie, and Mary.

NEWNC supports K of C plans for housing

By Phil Orlandella

Three potential legal occupancy changes and the conversion of a building into affordable elderly apartments were supported by the North End/Waterfront Neighborhood Council (NEWNC) at the June 11 monthly meeting.

One agenda item was withdrawn and the Council did not vote on another item because abutters had problems with it and the request will be resubmitted.

The Council supported the Knights of Columbus proposal to convert its headquarters at 41 North Street into 23 affordable elderly apartments and a new Council Headquarters. The vote was 9-1.

Council approval was given to change the legal occupancy at 27 Sheafe Street from five units to eight units. The vote was 9-1.

Withdrawn was a request to change the legal occupancy at 97 Salem Street from a real estate office to one retail space and nine residential units and a five-story addition above the one-story building.

No vote was taken on a request to change the legal occupancy at 20 Moon Street due to

Sheafe Street proposal approved by NEWRA

By Phil Orlandella

A request by Peter McGinnis to change the legal occupancy at 27 Sheafe Street from five residential units to eight residential units was supported by the North End/Waterfront Residents' Association at their June 11 meeting in the Nazzaro Community Center. All renovations will be done within the existing structure.

Jonathan Raisz withdrew his change of legal occupancy of 20 Moon Street to meet with abutters who have registered several complaints relating to the project.

Plans call for changes to the structure from one commercial and four residential units to five residential units and to construct two outdoor decks.

A first-floor deck is proposed for exclusive use for the first-floor unit and a roof deck for exclusive use of the fourth-floor unit.

The proposal is expected to be on the Thursday, July 12 NEWRA monthly meeting in the Nazzaro Community Center at 7 PM.

The proposed Airbnb amendments made by the Boston City Council was on the agenda but no vote was taken.

Higher parking fines proposed

By Phil Orlandella

Major parking fines could be increased considerably if the Boston City Council approves a proposal by Boston Mayor Martin Walsh.

11 parking fines are being considered by the Council.

The potential increases are relevant to resident permit parking tickets from $40 to $60 and no parking zones. Zone A area from $55 to $90, Zone B area from $25 to $50. Double parking Zone A from $45 to $75, Zone B from $30 to $55. No stopping or standing from $55 to $90. Unpaid meter from $25 to $40, over meter time limited from $25 to $40 and parking in a street cleaning zone from $40 to $90, if enacted.

Apparently, the increases stem from the City receiving thousands of complaints on the 311 number regarding illegal parking and a lack of enforcement over the last four years.

If enacted, the new fines schedule will begin July 1, 2008.

The misuse of handicapped parking, if passed, will begin in September 2018 to cut down on placard abuse.

The new law would find those who lie on a handicap plate application or falsely report a lost placard would receive a $500 fine for a first offense and a $1,000 for ongoing offenses.

Mayor inks short-term rental ordinance

By Phil Orlandella

In what came a no surprise, Mayor Martin Walsh signed a city-wide ordinance establishing guidelines to better track and regulate short-term rentals in Boston.

Originally filed by the Mayor, with amendments by the City Council, and conversations with residents, advocates and public private stakeholders, following a two-year careful study by the Walsh Administration the bill will go into effect on January 1, 2019 barring any lawsuit.

On a local note, the North End/Waterfront Residents' Association (NEWRA), in letter form, supported putting some sort of positive control on short-term rentals.

Apparently, the ordinance reflects the shared goal of providing economic opportunities for residents and temporary accommodations for visitors, while preserving Boston's housing stock.

"My goal in regulating short-term rentals has always been to responsibly incorporate the growth of the home-share industry into our work to create affordable housing for all by striking a fair balance between preserving housing while still allowing Bostonians to benefit from this new industry," the

RACE FOR CONGRESS

Pressley seeks to defund ICE

Ayanna Pressley announced her support for defunding the U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement agency (ICE), in light of the agency's central role in enforcing deeply flawed, destructive immigration policies, and persistent issues related to sexual violence and living conditions in ICE detention facilities.

"Our immigration system is fundamentally broken and ICE's role in supporting the existing system - including separating families seeking refuge in the United States and conducting indiscriminate deportation raids in our communities - is creating an atmosphere of toxic fear and mistrust in immigrant communities," Pressley said. "I believe we need to pursue comprehensive immigration reform, including a path to citizenship for all undocumented immigrants living in the United States, but in the short term we must remove the existential threat facing immigrant communities by defunding ICE and eliminating its Enforcement and Removal Operations (ERO) functions."

Pressley continued, "It is also incumbent upon elected leaders at the local, state, and federal level to work collaboratively with advocates and others to determine what else can be done to actively defend and support immigrant communities in the face of these challenges, and to better understand the local impacts of ICE's draconian enforcement methods."

Pressley has spent her life working to address systemic issues of violence and trauma, and pointed to recent reports of widespread sexual violence in ICE detention facilities and the intergenerational trauma resulting from current enforcement activities as major reasons for defunding the agency.

"The reports of sexual violence in ICE detention facilities follow an all-too-familiar pattern of those in power taking advantage of vulnerable populations and those who are afraid to speak up, and speak to the critical lack of Federal oversight for ICE actions. Furthermore, the heart wrenching policy of separating children from their parents at the border, coupled with the deplorable conditions in ICE detention facilities, promise to create significant, long-lasting trauma that undermines efforts to build trust with immigrant communities," said Pressley. "ICE was created less than 20 years ago, and it is clear now that the agency is irrevocably broken. If elected I will work with Federal leaders to rehouse the non-immigration enforcement functions of ICE - including human trafficking and money laundering investigations - elsewhere in the U.S. Department of Homeland Security, while immediately eliminating funding for enforcement and removal functions."

Pressley's announcement comes in advance of a planned visit Wednesday to the South Bay House of Corrections in Boston, a county jail that has a contract with ICE to serve as a detention center for immigrants targeted for deportation. On Tuesday, Pressley will host a round table with immigration leaders and advocates in Everett, in advance of releasing the immigration section of her Equity Agenda later in the week.

THE RACE FOR SUFFOLK COUNTY DISTRICT ATTORNEY

Henning receives endorsement of Tim McCarthy

Candidate for Suffolk County District Attorney Greg Henning today received the endorsement of Boston City Councilor Tim McCarthy, who represents the neighborhoods of Hyde Park, Mattapan, and Roslindale.

"Above all else, the people of Hyde Park, Mattapan, and Roslindale want to feel safe in their neighborhoods. Greg Henning has dedicated his career to keeping our streets safe and will continue to do so as our next District Attorney," McCarthy said of Henning. "He is a seasoned prosecutor, who also has the experience of being a classroom teacher and mentor to many young people in our community. His vision of Suffolk County is one rooted in safety for all of its residents, compassion for the victims of crime, and understanding for those who deserve a second chance."

Upon the endorsement, Greg Henning made the following statement:

"I am thankful to have Councilor McCarthy's support in this campaign as we work to keep our neighborhoods safe from gun violence, combat the opioid epidemic, and better engage every community in Suffolk County. No one is a better advocate for the people of Hyde Park, Mattapan, and Roslindale than Tim, and I look forward to turning to him for advice in the coming months."

The Democratic Primary for the open race to replace outgoing Suffolk County District Attorney Dan Conley is on Tuesday, September 4, and the General Election is on Tuesday, November 6. For ten years, Greg has worked as an assistant district attorney in the Suffolk County DA's office, including time as head of the Gun Prosecution Task Force and as head of the Gang Unit, which is focused on shootings and other violent crimes in Suffolk County. Amidst his work at the DA's office, Greg built a reputation as a beloved teacher and mentor in the community.

Greg grew up in Boston, graduated from Harvard in 2002 with a degree in Government, and received his juris doctorate in 2005 from the University of Virginia School of Law. Greg lives in Dorchester with his girlfriend, who is a special education teacher in Boston.

Speaker DeLeo leads growing coalition of support behind Evandro Carvalho House Speaker Robert A. DeLeo endorsed Democratic State Representative Evandro C. Carvalho for Suffolk County District Attorney, citing Carvalho's strong progressive record and prosecutorial experience.

Speaker DeLeo, a lifelong Democrat and Winthrop resident, said Carvalho has distinguished himself as a leader on progressive issues during his tenure in the House, and singled out his role as a chief author of this year's criminal justice reform law, the most comprehensive in state history.

"Representative Carvalho is a proven leader who will make an outstanding district attorney, and is the best choice to implement the progressive reforms that we passed last month," Speaker DeLeo said. "The House has benefited from his experience as an assistant district attorney in Roxbury District Court and in gun court. As an immigrant who came to Boston, launched a successful career, and is choosing to live in the city and raise his family here, he is truly one of our state's bright young leaders. Living in Suffolk County, I am grateful that we have an opportunity to vote for such a leader and could not be more enthusiastic in giving him my full endorsement in both the Democratic primary and general election."

Representative Carvalho said, "I am honored by Speaker DeLeo's endorsement and his confidence that I would draw on my work as a prosecutor to lead Suffolk County forward. Under his leadership, the House has taken bold progressive steps, from this year's criminal justice reform to the landmark law two years ago to fight the opioid and heroin epidemic, and I was proud to vote for both. One of my first votes in the House was for a wide-ranging anti-gun bill that toughened background checks and gun tracking. As District Attorney, I would instill in the Suffolk County criminal justice system the same spirit of integrity, compassion and common sense Speaker DeLeo has brought to the House." DeLeo joins a diverse roster of elected Suffolk County Democrats who have backed Representative Carvalho's campaign, including Assistant House Majority Leader Byron Rushing of the South End, House Ways and Means Chairman Jeffrey Sanchez of Jamaica Plain, Representative Liz Malia of Jamaica Plain, Representative Chynah Tyler of Roxbury, Representative Michael Moran of Brighton, Representative Russell Holmes of Mattapan, Representative RoseLee Vincent of Revere, Representative Dan Ryan of Charlestown, and Representative Jay Livingstone of Beacon Hill. Evandro Carvalho was born in Cape Verde and worked on his grandparents' farm before moving to Boston with his sister and brother at age 15, joining their mother, who worked cleaning office buildings. After graduating from the University of Massachusetts and the Howard University School of Law, Carvalho worked for a law firm under the tutelage of Ron Machen, who was later appointed U.S. Attorney by President Obama.

Applications for Slow Streets program available

Mayor Martin J. Walsh announced that applications for the 2018 Neighborhood Slow Streets program are now available. The Neighborhood Slow Streets program is a community-based effort to reduce speeds and improve the quality of life on Boston's local streets. Neighborhood associations, community groups, faith-based institutions and other organized groups of neighbors are invited to apply to the program.

"Boston residents want safe residential streets and the Neighborhood Slow Streets initiative is specifically designed to meet this goal by using traffic calming equipment and techniques to control speeding," said Mayor Walsh. "Neighborhood Slow Streets is a signature Vision Zero investment in our neighborhoods. It complements the work that BTM and other City agencies are undertaking each day to make our neighborhood streets safe and welcoming for Boston residents."

All completed applications will be evaluated using the same objective criteria. The top-scoring three to five neighborhoods will be selected, and the community process and design of each new zone is expected to be completed by early 2020. Applications must be submitted, or postmarked and mailed, by no later than Friday, August 24, 2018.

Neighborhood Slow Streets was implemented as a pilot program in the Talbot Norfolk Triangle in Dorchester and the Stonybrook neighborhood of Jamaica Plain in late 2017. The program aims to slow drivers to 20 MPH and make streets feel more inviting to everyone who lives, plays, walks, and bicycles in the neighborhood.

The program uses quick-install and low-cost fixes, such as signage, pavement markings, and speed humps.

"Due to the popularity of the pilot, BTM developed a metrics-based application review process to evaluate requests by groups of residents interested in bringing the program to their neighborhoods," said Boston Transportation Commissioner Gina N. Fiandaca. "Five new zones were selected in 2017 and BTM is currently advancing through the planning and design work for each of these zones. Boston's Public Works Department will manage construction of the five new projects and we anticipate that all work will be completed in 2019."

Talbot-Norfolk Triangle resident Tiffany Cogell said, "Neighborhood Slow Streets puts the power of safe infrastructure changes into the hands of residents while allowing them the opportunity to interact directly with the City. It creates opportunities for deeper engagement between the local government and residents, and gives residents the chance to voice their opinions and lived expertise. It saves lives and is a great benefit to every community that is able to participate."

The five neighborhoods selected last year for participation in the program include:

- Chinatown
- Grove Hall/Quincy Corridor
- Highland Park
- Mount Hope/Canterbury
- West of Washington

As a result of feedback from the community, the 2018 application process has been simplified. Applicants are asked to supply:

- Contact information;

- A map of their proposed zone;
- Signatures from community members; and,

- A minimum of three letters of support from organizations, key stakeholders or officials.

Please note that returning applicants only need to supply contact information and signatures from community members, and returning applicants may submit a new map if they choose to make adjustments to their zone.

Neighborhood Slow Streets prioritizes areas with the most need for traffic calming. In 2018, the Boston Transportation Department will select from the new applications submitted three to five new residential neighborhoods where the program will next be implemented. The evaluation criteria will ensure that these neighborhoods:

- Are home to higher percentages of youth, older adults, and people with disabilities;

- Experience higher numbers of traffic crashes per mile that resulted in an EMS response;

- Include, or border, community gathering places such as public libraries, community centers, schools, and parks;

- Support existing and planned opportunities for walking, bicycling, and access to the MBTA or other forms of public transit; and

- Are feasible for the City of Boston to implement.

The Neighborhood Slow Streets Program is a component of the Vision Zero safety agenda established in the City of Boston as a priority of Go Boston 2030, the City's long term transportation plan. For detailed information on Go Boston 2030 please visit here.

ENJOY A SAFE AND SANE FOURTH

The summer season's big holiday, the Fourth of July, soon will be upon us. Millions of Americans will be celebrating the holiday -- which will be a long and extended five-day weekend for many of us -- with friends and family in a multitude of ways.

Boating, beaching, mountain hiking, and summer getaways of all kinds are the traditional means by which Americans of all ages will take advantage of the summer weather and the observance of the founding of our nation.

Although we hope that our readers will enjoy their personal festivities to the fullest, we also trust that they will do so safely. Fireworks are illegal in this state and for good reason: Life-changing injuries are all too common when fireworks become a part of our celebrations, especially around children.

However, the biggest risk factor of all still remains excessive alcohol consumption, regardless of where we may be imbibing. Drinking and boating are as incompatible as drinking and driving an automobile -- nothing good can come out of either and all-too-often, a tragedy is the outcome.

Even swimming can be hazardous for those who drink too much. Risky behavior, such as diving into shallow water, is a recipe for death or paralysis when a person under the influence strikes their head or snaps their neck on a rock or a sandbar.

And make no mistake about it -- tragedies such as these will occur by the thousands across America this holiday season. It is up to each of us to ensure that we look out not only for ourselves, but also for our family members and friends who are with us and under our care.

We wish all of our readers a happy -- and safe & sane -- Fourth of July.

GUEST OP-ED

Promises to make to yourself

By Bryan Golden

You make promises to others but what promises do you make to yourself? Making appropriate commitments to yourself is essential for guiding your life in the direction you desire. If you don't take care of yourself, no one else will.

Start with a belief in yourself along with recognizing that you have inside you what it takes to achieve your goals. Without this belief, your mind becomes programmed to prevent you from reaching your goals and will actually attract negative things you don't want.

Promise not to compare yourself to others. Whatever someone else has or doesn't have is irrelevant. You should be monitoring your progress towards your goals. All that matters is where you are compared to where you want to be.

Promise to appreciate family and friends. Be thankful for those who are there when you need them. Show your gratitude by being there for them. True friends are there through good and bad times. Always be sure you reciprocate.

Promise to always make the best of whatever circumstances you are facing. You can't always control what happens but you do have control over your response. Learn from the past and move forward. Avoid repeating mistakes.

Promise to appreciate each day. Maintain an attitude of gratitude for all of the good things in your life. Focus your energy on today while planning for the future. Don't lament the past.

Promise to be self-reliant. Your life is your responsibility. You are responsible for where you are and where you are headed. Don't blame anyone else. It's up to you to fix mistakes you have made. Look in the mirror to remind yourself who's in charge.

Promise to learn, grow, and improve. Education is a lifetime pursuit. There is always room for improvement. Study examples of successful people as well as learning what to avoid from those who fail. Keep your mind open to new ideas from all sources.

Promise to achieve your goals. Use the simple three step plan. First identify your goals. Next formulate a plan for achievement. This entails breaking your plan down into small steps of manageable size. Now take action. Start with the first step and then take the next one. Keep going until you reach your destination.

Promise to get back up when you fall or stumble. Setbacks will arise on the road to success. Failure only occurs when you give up. Get back on your feet, shake yourself off, and keep taking the next step. Reassess your strategy as needed. It's OK to change direction when appropriate.

Promise to help others. You can get anything in life you want by helping enough other people get what they want. There must not be any ulterior motive for the help you provide. Don't ask for or expect anything in return.

Promise to maintain a positive attitude. Your mind is a magnet which attracts what you think about. Positive thoughts attract positive circumstances and people while negative thoughts attract negative. Monitor your attitude and immediately take corrective action when it starts to turn negative.

Promise to be ethical and honest. Never act to harm anyone. Besides being wrong, taking advantage of people will boomerang right back at you. Do the right things because they are the right things to do.

Keep these promises to yourself. If you are not OK, your ability to help others is diminished. As a result, the quality of your life is reduced. Your well being is paramount. It's not selfish. Taking care of yourself does not detract from others.

NEAD/NEW Health Conducted Annual Drug Awareness Day

On Wednesday, June 6, North End Against Drugs (NEAD) and North End Waterfront Health (NEW Health) held their annual drug awareness day for students and teachers at the Saint John and Eliot Schools. The goal of the event was to make students aware of the dangers of drugs and alcohol and to stress the importance of making good choices. Over one hundred 6th, 7th and 8th grade students attended the event hosted by Saint John's School.

This incredibly important 2 hour program began with an introduction from NEAD President John Romano and NEW Health Executive Director James Luisi and consisted of a speaking program which featured members of NEW Health's substance addiction recovery program. Event speakers also included Massachusetts State Representative, Aaron Michlewitz; Assistant District Attorney, Greg Henning; Steven Siciliano Chief of Probation at South Boston District Court and the Suffolk County Probation Office; Boston Police Officer, Teddy Boyle and members of Boston's undercover drug police squad; and NEW Health physician, Martha McLaughlin.

State Rep Aaron Michlewitz addressing the students and introducing ADA Greg Henning.

Each speaker spoke about the dangers associated with drug and alcohol use from his or her own life or professional perspective, and all made it clear that making good choices matters. The NEW Health recovery group - led by NEW Health recovery coach, Lorraine Fitzgerald - told true stories about their personal struggles with addiction. Other speakers detailed the duties of their jobs in relation to drug and alcohol use.

Following the presentations, the kids were gifted with special bags donated by North End

ADA Greg Henning discussing some important topics with the students.

Against Drugs through their annual grant from Eversource and NEW Health filled with information about staying away from the use of drugs and alcohol. The bags were also filled with various other goodies for the kids.

Special thank you to those in attendance who helped make the day possible: Mary Wright, Zach Goodale, Maria Bova, Luisa Siniscalchi, Ann Fitzgerald, John Romano and other members of the NEW Health staff and North End Against Drugs Board Members who could not be in attendance.

NEMPAC Opera Group performs at Faneuil Hall

By Phil Orlandella

Returning to the Great Hall at Faneuil Hall, the North End Music and Performing Arts Center (NEMPAC) performed their production of Mozart's Don Giovanni on June 21 and 23.

NEMPAC presented a fully staged opera sung in the original Italian with English subtitles performed by outstanding singers with orchestral accompaniment and featured NEMPAC theatre students.

Dr. Tiffany Chang returned to the podium this year to conduct the orchestra, and artistic and stage director Rebecca Miller challenged what a theatre space 'has' to be by reinventing Opera at one of the most historic non-traditional performance spaces and the City of Boston.

Straying from tradition this year, the NEMPAC Opera Project presented a preview performance on June 17 at Christopher Columbus Park.

Singers, accompanied by piano, featured songs of Mozart's most memorable scenes from the opera providing a free taste of their production.

Mayor said in a press release.

While the regulations allow for the growth of Boston's home-sharing industry, it includes deterrents to prevent operators from monopolizing the city's housing market with short-term rentals.

These regulations only apply to property owners registered with the City to operate a short-term rental in their unit, according to the ordinance. Non-owner occupations are not permitted to operate short-term rentals.

The ordinance takes a three-tiered approach to classify short-term rental units:

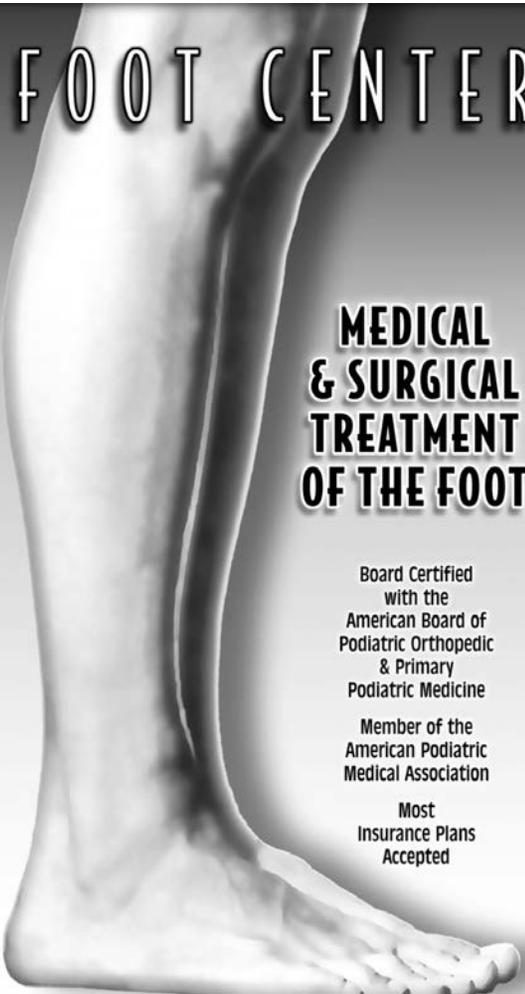

- Limited Share Unit: Consists of a private bedroom or shared space in the owner-operator's primary residence, in which the operator is present during the rental. The fee associated with this classification is $25 per year.

• Home Share Unit:

Consists of a whole unit available for a short-term rental at the primary residence of the owner-operator (unit in which operator resides for at least nine months out of the 12-month period). The fee associated with this classification is $200 per year.

- Owner-Adjacent Unit: Consists of an owner-occupied two or three family building, in which the owner lists a single secondary unit as a short-term rental. The fee associated with this classification is $200 per year.

NORTH2SOUTH BASEBALL TOURNAMENT A SUCCESS

The annual North2South Baseball Tournament between North End and South End teams (2 games) home and away, was a successful and enjoyable contest.

Sponsored by Rep. Aaron Michlewitz, both teams received hats, shirts and awards were presented following the games and refreshments were served.

For many years, this neighborhood versus neighborhood contest has brought two communities together competing and making new friends.

Rep. Michlewitz has hit a grand slam with this yearly baseball event.

NEAD SCHOLARSHIPS AWARDED

Twenty-five students have received scholarships and gift certificates from North End Against Drugs (NEAD) to help with their all-important education.

NEAD is always in the forefront when it comes to community assistance, programs, events and social activities.

The neighborhood organization is a non-profit group that works hard to provide these scholarships on an annual basis.

This year seven $500 scholarships were presented to local students and 100 give certificates were awarded.

ANOTHER GREAT ALL-STAR GAME

Another North End Athletic Association (NEAA) Majors (Little League) All Star Game played at Langone Field was nothing short of a well-played game.

Selected by the coaches and league officials the players did a great job on and off the field. They certainly enjoyed showing off their baseball talents.

The NEAA and several sponsors helped make the game the success and fun filled game it turned out to be.

GANNON AND REPPUCCI HONORED

North End resident James Gannon and former North End Anthony Reppucci were recently recognized for their outstanding contributions to the North End Athletic Association (NEAA).

Both honorees were presented awards for their efforts and they threw out the first pitch for the All-Star game.

Recognizing Gannon and Reppucci was a nice gesture by the NEAA.

BPDA passes Smart Utilities Policy

A Smart Utility Policy that will ensure that new large developments are taking steps to create a more resilient city has been passed by the Boston Planning and Development Agency (BPDA).

The new policy was launched as a two-year program calling for the adoption of technologies aimed at preparing Boston's utility infrastructure for the impacts of climate change, including increased flood risks, heat waves and stronger storms, reducing costs for end-users and reducing traffic congestion and roadway construction.

"We know in order to build a more resilient Boston, we must repair our infrastructure today for a changing climate," Mayor Martin Walsh said.

MAINTAINING THE URBAN TREE

Watering, fertilizer, and pest control maintenance are the three key ingredients for healthy trees in the urban jungle.

Newly-planted trees require continued watering, ten gallons per week on the average throughout their active growing season. If you have a watering hose, set it at low pressure and water once a week for approximately 1/2 hour or more often during periods of hot weather.

Best times to water are early morning or evening.

When fertilizing young trees, one application in the spring is adequate.

A slow release, high nitrogen fertilizer can be used for the first four years. Do not fertilize any tree in midsummer. Mature trees need not be fertilized on a yearly basis.

The days of public spraying of trees with insecticides and pesticides are a thing of the past. Contact a certified arborist to diagnose and manage insect and disease problems.
